Session 43: Energies that Form Physical Reality

Summary: Reality is formed by the combination of multiple energies. In general terms, physical matter is energy vibrating at a frequency where it appears as solid. This effect is the product of multiple energies combining. The entire energy field is dynamic as new energies are continuously being encountered which modify the energy field. This collection of energy is not stable and is in constant change.

The energies can combine in a fashion to become an entity. This is done by a projection and the concentration of consciousness coming together. Over time, this energy projection can become an entity and act independently to maintain itself. It can block the flow of energy from the source and influence the point of creation. When you observe this manifestation, you see the result and call it good or bad. This entity can inhabit a body and become more powerful in its influence in both positive or negative. When a person has the influence of an entity, they may be aware or not but will identify with the energy, such as those who tap into the Christ consciousness or any other religions, philosophies, nationalities, companies, and causes. They use this source of energy to gain control over vast numbers of people.

It is important not to become trapped by a philosophy because it does not define who you are. Having a label does not grant salvation. Many of the causes and institutions that exist are concepts and projections far removed from the source that created them. They exist because of the attention they receive. Here is an important concept: these entities are a source of energy and are not necessarily connected to the one source which is God. They exist as a barrier between the source of energy and your being. They exist from the energy being given to it either consciously, unconsciously, or through manipulation of feelings or thoughts of devotion.
